Invitation

The Federation of European Societies of Neuropsychology (FESN), invites you to the 10th Scientific Meeting of the Federation of European Societies of Neuropsychology in Warsaw, Poland, on September 9-11, 2027.

This scientific meeting brings together researchers, clinicians, and students from across the world to share advances in cognitive and clinical neuropsychology, neuroscience, and neuropsychological rehabilitation. FESN provides a unique forum for scientific exchange, collaboration, and the strengthening of our professional community. The scientific programme will include keynote lectures and scientific sessions, highlighting recent developments in neuropsychology.

We look forward to welcoming you to an inspiring congress and to an engaging scientific and social experience.

Organiser

Federation of the European Societies of Neuropsychology

The Federation of the European Societies of Neuropsychology (FESN) was established in 2008 during its first official scientific conference in Edinburgh, marking an important milestone for European neuropsychology. Today, FESN brings together 23 societies representing thousands of professionals across Europe, with the aim of strengthening collaboration in research, clinical practice, neuroimaging, rehabilitation, and cognitive neuropsychology.
